

Captain Boulton's younger brother, William, currently serving his third tour in the Middle East.

While I am not active or retired military, I have a family member who is. My younger brother, William Boulton, signed up to be a Marine soon after 9/11 and is currently serving his third tour in the Middle East. I submit these photos simply out of pride for a family member who fights daily and puts his life on the line so that I might enjoy the freedoms I have. I know our family is like many American families who feel the absence of a loved one serving overseas. He is currently infantry with the 1st Battalion, 5th Marine Group (1/5), in Sangin Valley, Helmand Province, Afghanistan.

Terrorists used our workplace to fight their battle on 9/11. Many military families have made huge sacrifices so that we might go back to work and feel safe, continuing to do a job that we enjoy. I couldn't be more grateful. 🌐

With appreciation,

Captain Jack Boulton
